Sept. 2, 1975

Hello Mr. Weisberg:

Inclosed find photo which proves Oswald was an anti-Castro agent. You should put it in your next book about Oswald.

President Kennedy's murder has been cracked wide open by the late Aristotle Onassis. A story by Midnight in its March 5, 1973 issue says Onassis hired a private team of detectives who after 19 months of investigation gave him a 27 page report exposing the names of the villains who killed Kennedy.

For proof that the CIA blackmails politicians who are critical of its dirty tricks operations read the August, 1975 issue of For Men Only magazine

It's a Timbuktu Shockeroo. And for proof that the C.I.A. tried to murder foreign government rulers read the October, 1975 issue of the same magazine. The story is titled The Day Castro Beat the C.I.A.'s Mafia. Vincent Marzano was offered $125,000 to kill Castro. But he never got it because the C.I.A. killed him to prevent him from talking about the attempted murder of Castro. The story is so exciting I have read it twice. It's better than a James Bond thriller.

A recent Chicago Tribune story said that

F.B.I. has an electronic method that nullifies any type of burglary alarm. So the F.B.I. can burglarize any house without getting caught.

I have a story about a guy who claims he was offered a large sum of money by the C.I.A. to kill President Kennedy. But he refused the offer because he was afraid the C.I.A. would kill him after he did the job. Smart guy.

P. S. The great and glorious Miles Copeland has written a very good book about C I A secrets. It's much better than Marchetti's book. Page 204 convinces me the C I A knows how to murder a person and make it look like it was an accident or that the person died from natural causes. Miles gives details about three suspicious cases. And on page 261 he says some traitors are killed by the C I A under circumstances that are so terrifying as to defy description. Maybe the [redacted] poor guy is thrown into a cage with big hungry rats and poisonous snakes. a bit of James Bond.

I have a story which says Hoover was murdered because the White House feared he might blackmail them with certain documents he had in his possession. a drug was used that causes fatal heart attacks and cannot be detected unless an autopsy is performed immediately after death. I believe this story is 100% True.
